Mocha Girl Stephanie's review of Be Careful What

You Pray For: So far I have to say this book is very good. I can't stand the fact that the pastor is a womanizer. I can't wait to find out how this one ends. This was a good book. I think the ending left me hanging a little bit but over all it was good. I would really hate to think that a pastor would be that nasty but hey Kimberla opens up some crazy doors with this one lol.

Mocha Girl Joy's review of Be Careful What You Pray For: This particular book started off a bit slow, but as always She packs a punch! I love her work.

Mocha Girl Char's review of The Perfect Christmas: December's selection The Perfect Christmas was an excellent choice. What a wonderful story with such a holiday perfect ending. Cassie is out to find the perfect husband this holiday season. She will stop at nothing until she finds him. Seeking help from match making expert Dr. Simon Dodson who charges her thirty thousand dollars for this perfect match encounter. There will be loads of laughs as Cassie takes on her required tasks to find this perfect man, only to discover he's right under her nose.

January's Book

THE HUNGER GAMES by
SUZANNE COLLINS

In the ruins of a place once known as North America lies the nation of Panem, a shining Capitol surrounded by twelve outlying districts. Long ago the districts waged war on the Capitol and were defeated. As part of the surrender terms, each district agreed to send one boy and one girl to appear in an annual televised event called, "The Hunger Games," a fight to the death on live TV. Sixteen-year-old Katniss Everdeen, who lives alone with her mother and younger sister, regards it as a death sentence when she is forced to represent her district in the Games. The terrain, rules, and level of audience participation may change but one thing is constant: kill or be killed.
